

flexicart.co

Background

Many Facebook-based (f-commerce) businesses in Bangladesh typically manage their orders through various messaging platforms or over the phone. This approach consumes valuable time that could be better spent on expanding their businesses. Flexicart can help streamline the order management process, allowing businesses to focus on growth instead.

Regular vs flexicart workflow

Simplified payment verification

During checkout customer sees payment numbers

Manually pays via bkaash/nagad/rocket

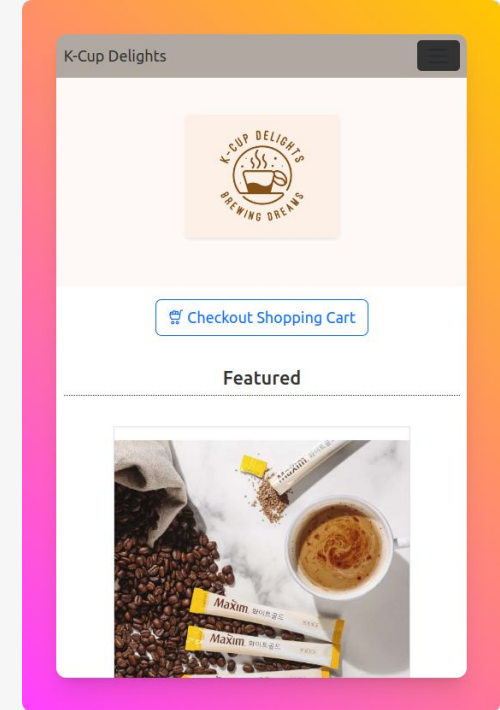

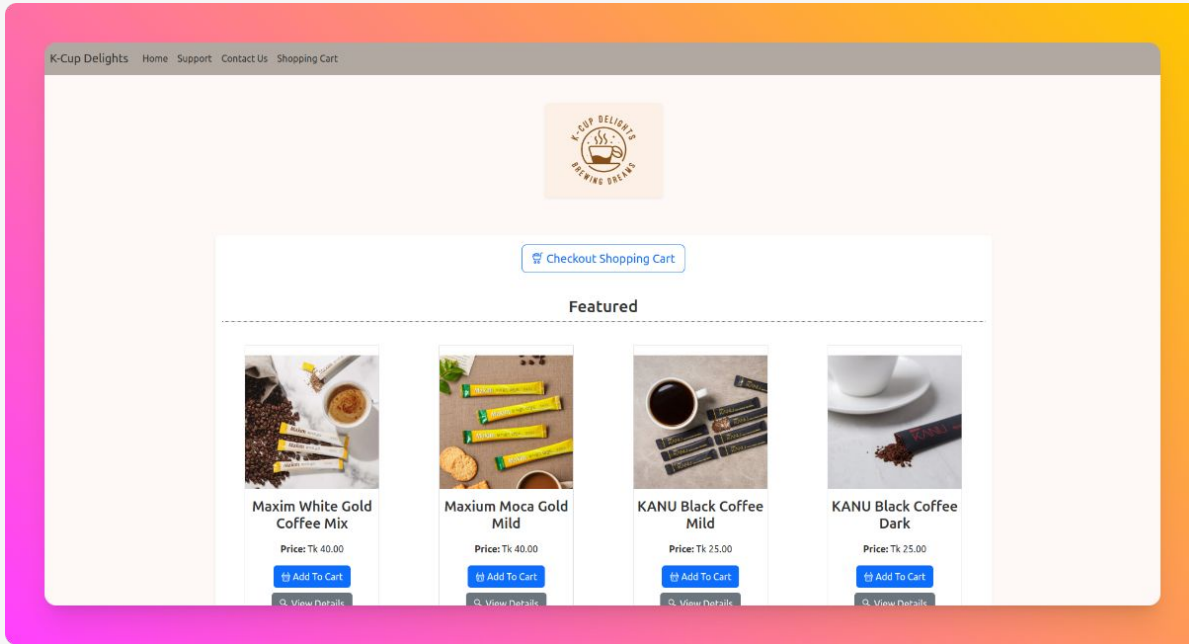

Gives payment amount and reference number in checkout form and confirms order.

Seller from order list can verify the payment from reference code given & their mobile payment sms.

Seller confirms order and proceed to processing

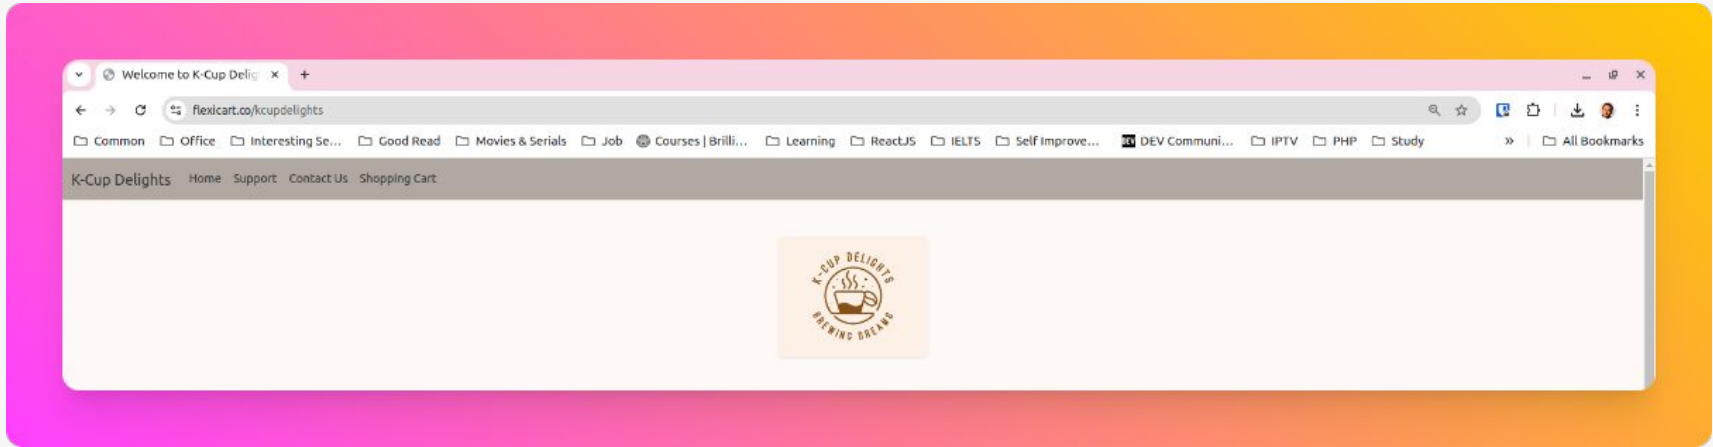

- Ideal for small business who do not want to implement automated payment yet.
- No additional cost of api implementation and maintenance.
- Customer encouraged to inputs reference number to themselves to reduce sellers manual entry.
- Seller simply verify payment text reference code with given code for order & amount.

Simple & mobile friendly interface

Your can even change colors accordingly!

Unique link for your store

example: flexicart.co/kcupdelights

your unique store id

No risk of losing customer data

Your customer data is stored on a separate database which is only available to you and no other customer of flexicart will be able to access your customer data.

So, even if facebook suspends or bans your store, your customer can still buy from your store as it is outside of facebook. All they need to know is your unique store link. That is why you should always post your store link on all your facebook posts to let customer know about your online store.
